My name is Rob and I'm a hard working graphic design student from the South West. Growing up in the Cotswolds I began a career as a cross country runner balancing school with a full week of training which earned me a place in a England squad. From my A levels I decided my favorite aspect of schools was designing and drawing and therefore pursued this through an art foundation course. From there I went on to study graphic design at university where I have quickly grown into a driven student. My route into design was unorthodox but I'm here and ready to work.
